PASSPORT LEAGUE COMMENDS AMERICAN FOR ITS ACTIVITY

The officers of the Passport League have called a meeting to discuss the advisability of sending a telegram to President Taft, urging him not to veto the Sulzer resolution. The league stands by the resolution. We believe it is a good and fair statement of the case, and that President Taft should think a long time before vetoing it. We have forwarded copies of the resolutions adopted last night to President Taft and to the Senators. With Senators Lodge and Crane at the head of the fight in the Senate, we are not worried about our interests there. The AMERICAN cannot be too highly commended for the active part it is taking in this movement. All last week, it kept up the agitation practically alone. The other papers are following suit to-day. Mr. Hearst's papers deserve the gratitude of every person interested in this movement.—Charles E. Barrett, secretary of the Massachusetts Passport League.

SANDFORD GETS FULL PENALTY OF 10 YEARS

PORTLAND, Me., Dec. 18.—The Rev. Frank W. Sandford, leader of the Unitarian and U. S. Society, was today sentenced to serve ten years in the Federal Prison at Atlanta, Ga., for the murder by starvation of men in his charge on his boat.

He was indicted on six counts for having caused the death of six men. He was sentenced on only one count and received the maximum penalty for manslaughter. The other five counts were continued.

Court came in at 9:30 and adjourned till midday. Sandford had nothing to say. He remained calm, and with the exception of a slight pallor, looked in good health.

It was not believed that Sandford will be released from the Federal prison today. The exact time has not been announced, but it is thought that the term will be made to expire.

Believe in "Elizah." One of the most amazing features of the unusual case in this case in which the followers of Sandford still cling to their faith in him after all that has happened. Many will ascribe to him some sort of occult power.

The "Mirage" theory of Edgar Allan Poe, recalled by this most extraordinary case, is not without some foundation.

Party of Sandford's disciples were with him when the Kingston sailed from New York. It is being suggested that his visitation was a part of the case of the "Mirage," where the leader appeared to have a power for the propagation of a new faith. The case was a very strange one.

W. R. HEARST RAPPS RUSSIA MESSAGE

The following message from William Randolph Hearst at Paris, Kansas, was received last evening by Isaac Heller, chairman of the Russell Hill News Telegram.

Your kind invitation found me on my way West and consequently unable to accept.

If I could return to Boston in time to speak at your meeting I would gladly do so, as I am much interested in this case, and somewhat disturbed at the recent developments in Washington.

I had thought that our two-year fight for the integrity of the American passport had practically been won, but there seems now to have arisen an international diplomatic situation further to prolong and discuss a matter which has already been too far prolonged and too much discussed.

This matter of the Russian rejection of American passports is too clear and too thoroughly understood to require discussion or diplomacy.

Discussion has already been exhausted, and diplomacy in such matters is merely an elaborate formality to allow one nation to avoid demanding the obvious right and the other nation to evade its obvious duty.

A treaty between two nations is a solemn signed agreement dependent for its execution upon the honor of the nations affixing their seals and signatures.

If either one of the nations has neither respect for its bond nor regard for its honor the treaty is worthless.

Other national capitulations are part of the provisions of the treaty it thereby, to all intents and purposes, abrogates the treaty.

The treaty of 1832 has long been violated by Russia and has in consequence long been terminated by Russia.

It is asked for the United States to continue to carry out the provisions of a treaty which has been abrogated by the other party.

If Russia desires to continue the treaty, let her validate the treaty by carrying out its terms. If Russia will not consent to carry out the terms of the treaty, then the United States is free to terminate the treaty.

TAFT GIVES RUSSIA A FATAL BLOW

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18.—President Taft, it was officially reported to-day, has formally notified Russia that the treaty of 1832 with that country is to be abrogated on December 31, 1912. By this action he took the entire matter out of the hands of Congress and forestalled action by the Senate on the Sulzer resolution against which Russia has made protest.

The basis of Russia's objection was the declaration that that country "had violated" the treaty by refusing to honor the passports of Jewish citizens of this country.

SERIOUS DIPLOMATIC CRISIS. The Russian action on Saturday created a serious diplomatic crisis which the President hopes to bring over by the action which he has taken, and in doing so President Taft has followed the precedent set fifty years ago during the administration of President James K. Polk.

To insure this precedent President Taft will have to gain such satisfaction of the Russian government as to make the treaty of 1832 completely ignored.

PROTEST GOES TO PRESIDENT

The resolutions passed at the extraordinary meeting in St. Petersburg, demanding that the United States Government take immediate action to abrogate the treaty of 1832 with Russia, because that country has continuously violated it in not accepting the passports of Jewish American citizens, were today forwarded to President Taft, Senator Lodge and Crane of Massachusetts and to the Department of State at Washington.

The Massachusetts Passport League, which was the sponsor of the meeting, was held a meeting of the officers of the league to-day to discuss the advisability of sending a telegram to President Taft, urging him not to veto the Sulzer resolution. We believe it is a good and fair statement of the case, and that President Taft should think a long time before vetoing it.

Knockout Brown and Lench Cross, which takes place at the Empire A. C. on Wednesday night.

It will be a battle between a clever, scientific boxer and a terrific slugger. The mill is sure to be witnessed by a large sized crowd of fans, as both boys are prime favorites over in Gotham.

Brown is in great condition for the fray. Dan Morgan's left-handed batter was a popular idol in New York last winter as a result of his two victories over Champion Ad Walrus.

There were many twining catfishes who hailed the blond-haired Dutchman as the greatest lightweight champion of the world.

Fear'd Michigan "Wildcat."

Widgat offered Brown an opportunity to fight him for the world's lightweight championship on the coast, when a decision must be rendered. But Danny Morgan halted at the thought of the "Wildcat" from Michigan. "I don't want to go down," he said. "I would pack him around the neck and he would pack me like a sack of potatoes."

Widgat would pack him like a sack of potatoes, but he would not pack the "Wildcat" lightweight from Cadillac.

It was not a K. O. punch crashing down on the head of the blond.

There will be another good battle between the "Wildcat" and the "Punch" Packer, Moravian and Young, Hooper and the "Wildcat" from Michigan. He ever hopes to get a match with Ad.

After his fight with Tommy Moravian, Moravian claimed that the "Punch" from Michigan was the best of the coast. He said he had been beaten by the "Punch" one of his fights.

Windy City favorite nut has been treated to a "Punch" from Michigan. He is in order to get back into harness as a Few Good Lightweights

When Alcatraz sends the ring here, all in all possibilities be besieged by challenges. Just now there are but four real lightweight contenders in the world. They are: Max Baer, who is a welterweight; Ezzard Charles and Knockout Brown, who are middleweights; and Matt Welsh, Joe Frazier and Rocky Marciano, who are heavyweights.

Boxer Mackanzam, Matt Welsh, who is a welterweight, is the only one who might have a chance against Wolski at 135 pounds. Francis Wolski, who is a welterweight, is the only one who might have a chance against Wolski at 135 pounds. Francis Wolski, who is a welterweight, is the only one who might have a chance against Wolski at 135 pounds.

But it is unlikely that Wolski would take on a man who could make 133 pounds ring-side with ease. He is a rugged battler and a hard puncher.

Wells will not meet Matty at New Orleans unless the weight is 132 at 10 in the morning. The bouts in the Southern city take place at 4 o'clock in the afternoon. As a result, the former English title holder would be close to 136 pounds when the bout started.

That the newly organized Greater Boston League is prospering is shown by the attendance that is far beyond the estimates made by the managers of the different basketball teams at the beginning of the season. The large crowds that have visited the North and West End games together with those held at Roxbury, have far surpassed the attendances since the

Won't Be Happy Till They Get It

By T. E. POWERS

The Governor's Council Ought to Fish or Cut Bait

If the Governor's Council persists in its refusal to pass upon the appointment of Mr. Brown, the people will of necessity be compelled to sit in judgment upon the Council.

Tom Powers's funny "Joys" and "Glooms" are a regular feature of the Sunday AMERICAN. Don't miss the laugh-making drawings by this famous cartoonist in the Sunday AMERICAN.

The Little Task of To-day That Is Well Done has a Greater Reward Than Dreaming of a More Imposing Task To-morrow.

By FRANCES L. GARSIDE

HORNE comes to a field look over the fence at the field just across the road. Behind the pasture fence he looks at the field and thinks field looks more tender, of more value than the field he is in. He has fewer thistles than in the field in which he is.

To disconcert with his grin, the field looker comes to the fence, and breaks through the fence and comes to the field. He looks at the field and promised land of his hungry horse.
He looks at the field and sees the grain on either side of fence beyond the field.

When he finds the field is attractive tender was due to the fact that it is open he looks at the thistles are many and the grain and

It is like the boy who is sent out to pick berries and comes home with an empty bucket. The next time he goes out he goes with a bucket with a slight yield in the corner. The third time he goes out in greater abundance bucket with berries in the corner. The fourth time he comes home with a bucket full of berries. The fifth time he comes home with a bucket full of berries.
The sixth time he comes home with a bucket full of berries. The seventh time he comes home with a bucket full of berries. The eighth time he comes home with a bucket full of berries. The ninth time he comes home with a bucket full of berries. The tenth time he comes home with a bucket full of berries.
The eleventh time he comes home
with a bucket full of berries. The twelfth time he comes home with a bucket full of berries. The thirteenth
time he comes home with a bucket
full of berries. The fourteenth time he comes home with a bucket full of berries. The fifteenth time he comes home with a bucket full of berries. The sixteenth time he comes home with a bucket full of berries.
The seventeenth time he comes home
with a bucket full of berries. The eighteenth time he comes home with a bucket full of berries. The nineteenth
time he comes home with a bucket
full of berries. The twentieth time
he comes home with a bucket full of berries. The twenty-first time he comes home with a bucket full of berries. The twenty-second time he comes home with a bucket full of berries. The twenty-third time he comes home with a bucket full of berries. The twenty-fourth time he comes home with a bucket full of berries. The twenty-fifth time he comes home with a bucket full of berries. The twenty-sixth time he comes home with a bucket full of berries. The twenty-seventh time he comes home with a bucket full of berries. The twenty-eighth time he comes home with a bucket full of berries. The twenty-ninth time he comes home with a bucket full of berries. The thirtieth time he comes home with a bucket full of berries.

Result of Carelessness

The worry of to-day, the threat of to-morrow are the result of carelessness yesterday. If, as every day comes, a man does his best with the best patch nearest at hand he will never fear the empty bucket of to-morrow. The returns may be small for the effort expended, but there always will be returns for effort, and there never are returns for hopes that are not.

Becomes Man Without Job

He can't go back to the field he abandoned, and he soon begins to show the effect of fruitless travel along a dusty and weary road. He becomes a man without a job because he didn't make the best of the one he had.

The Female of the Species

By LEO J. RABETTE

WHEN God spake from out the whirlwind and the world sprang into view,
'Tween the sexes he made woman the more deadly of the two;
And as seen from any angle 'twas a wisely ordered plan,
For the female of the species is the mother of the man.

When alone in tangled forest the she-tiger licks her young;
Leaps and kills the lurking cobra the dark shadowy brakes among.
Well it is her spring is deadly, that her fangs her fears efface,
For the female of the species is protectress of the race.

In the savage tribes the female built the hut and ground the corn,
And in ceaseless strife and struggle forged the strength of the unborn.
Then she fought and toiled and suffered; then her word was law to man.

For the female of the species was the leader in the clan.

Now the woman's like is strifeless; man has made of her a toy;
Softly fettered, petted, pampered; she may not her strength employ.
But though forced from out the truth, still she will not let it go.

Still the female of the species is more deadly than the male.

Since the woman gives the nation artists, poets, statesmen, kings;
Since from woman, woman only, life and love forever springs,
Well it were if now ye fairly this eternal issue face;

Give her freedom; make her fellow to your work, your dream, your aim,
For what now she's doing, dreaming will the race to come parallel.

Well it were to make her comrade; 'tis the only perfect plan,
For the female of the species is the mother of the man.

Little Bobbie

By WILLIAM F. KIRK

HA. Ha, sed Pa. girls will be girls. Indeed? sed Ma.

Yes, indeed, sed Pa. & old girls will be old girls. You can't stop them. There is no way to stop them. Ma.

have all this fuss, go on in the library & pick pure twenty grate wimmen. It won't matter who you pick anyway, sed Ma. It will give Hittel Bobbie

Oh, and Pa, nothing except this item that I see in the paper. This is indeed a chuckle, and Pa. Lissen, wife. Here is a list of the twenty greatest suffragists and women that ever lived, that is, sed Pa, the greatest the suffragists ever knew. You know, Pa sed, that there has been a lot of talk about the twenty greatest men, and now they have Missus Carrie Catt, Missus Willard, Missus Harriet Beecher Stowe, Jane Addams, Ella Young, Emmaline Pankhurst, etc. Oh, you Emmaline, Pa sed.

There is thirteen near nimals along the anim lines, sed Pa. Ha, Ha.

I do not see any occasion for any nirth, sed Ma, I think twenty winnimen has as grate a right to be grate as sed Ma, we are ceting our discur. Then Pa kep still for awhile, but after he had kept still for awhile he boillered aggrnn. "Wife, he sed, how do you spell Venus?"

V-E-N-U-S, sed Ma, Thank you.

I think the same as you think, sed Pa, but I think the county rich picked that twenty nains is a lot of bad pickers, Pa sed. If we had racing nags, they wud be grate handicappers.

1800K Helen of Troy with (2) L's or one? & how do you spell Nelle Gwynn? P'a asked Ma.

books in our library, & pick twenty girls that was really grate.

Well, well, and Ma, rather than to why do you try to make up a list of the greatest winners, isn't there any name you can spell?

You bet there is, and Pa.
